Primary Reason Not Finished

I completed the workshop and didn't pick it up again.

I decided I needed a break from working on it.

I did not like how it was turning out or thought it was ugly.

I don't remember why I didn't finish it.

I lost interest in the project.

I misplaced it or forgot I had it.

I missed the challenge or entry deadline.

I ran into creative issues and didn't know what I wanted to do with it.

I ran into technical difficulties and set it aside.

It dropped to the bottom of the "I want to work on this" pile.

It was beyond my technical skills at the time.

It was too big of a project.

No particular reason, I just worked on other projects because I have so many in progress or something else caught my eye.
